

WATERWAYS TOWNSHIP OPENS ITS DOORS THROUGH MULTI-FACETED SERIES OF EVENTS

Master-Planned Community Sets Dates for "Catch the Current" Ribbon-Cutting and Activities for the General Public

Richmond Hill, Ga. – June 20, 2011– WaterWays Township, a 2,300-acre gated master-planned community in south Bryan County, announced today their intention to host "Catch the Current", a series of preview events designed to introduce its coastal lifestyle to the greater Savannah area. Fletcher Management Company, the developers of Marsh Landing / Sawgrass, the Ponte Vedra Lodge & Club, and Baymeadows, in Jacksonville, Florida, are the visionaries behind WaterWays Township.

Beginning with a ribbon-cutting celebration on Friday, July 15th at WaterClub West, civic and government dignitaries, as well as Fletcher Management leadership, will gather to officially open the community that currently showcases a junior Olympic pool, screened pavilion, Summer Kitchen for group entertainment, back country bike trails, over three miles of lagoons, more than six miles of marsh, fishing, and its new series of Showcase homes. After the mid-morning ribbon-cutting ceremony, these community leaders will be provided with a site tour and lunch.

On Saturday, July 16th, from 10:00 AM – 4:00 PM, the WaterWays community will be open to the public. From the impressive appearance of the entry orchard that will greet visitors upon arrival at WaterWays, casting and fishing tours on Grand Lagoon, conservation lectures by archeologists working at the historic Cottenham Plantation site, and one-on-one sessions with WaterWays' award-winning builders, the day of events and activities will feature numerous opportunities for the general public to understand what life at WaterWays Township will be like. The schedule of activities includes plans for back country bike tours underneath ancient oak hammocks, pontoon boat rides or kayaking along the Bill Dance-designed fishing lagoons, swimming in the Rick Wissmach-designed WaterClub West pool, and personal tours to experience the breathtaking vistas of coastal marshes along Red Bird Creek. The events have been custom-crafted to introduce Savannah-area citizens to the unique lifestyle currently available for residents of WaterWays.

"Inviting the public to experience life on the water is paramount to future residents understanding our vision for this community. Our "Catch the Current" preview events will provide ongoing opportunities for families to understand the exceptional lifestyle to be enjoyed by those who choose to make their home at WaterWays," said Vance Askew – marketing and sales director, WaterWays Township. "Catch the Current" is our way of bringing out the welcome mat for the local community that has offered to us such support and encouragement."

About WaterWays Township

WaterWays Township is a 2,300-acre master-planned community framed by more than six miles of Coastal Georgia marsh frontage, navigable Bill Dance-designed waterways and lagoons, and an impressive collection of planned world-class amenities. Gracious homes on generous lots honor the history of traditional southern, low country architecture as well as the ecologically-sound building practices that pay homage to this native environment. Featuring more than 450 acres of recreation and open spaces, miles of nature and biking trails, and the history of Old Cottenham Plantation Park, WaterWays offers numerous opportunities to explore, discover, and learn. For more information, www.waterwaystownship.com.

###

For more information:
Elyse Hammett, APR
EOS Marketing & Communications for WaterWays Township
elyse@eosmarketing.com
404.949.3777 (desk)
404.376.5563 (cell)